Unsolicited application as handball coach.

As I work on club day-to-day technical training and analysis, my next natural step will be to establish myself in the role of head coach or assistant coach for an international club or national team. I am passionate about the coach job and throughout my career; I have worked as a head coach, assistant coach, physical trainer, mental trainer and sports manager.

As one of my primary areas of work, I am responsible for the development, implementation, operation and improvement of team performance, players, processes and staff. In the coordination of the core services, preparation, professional skill and crew treatment, between other things performance and development have been a very important part. This in the form of status presentations for management and strategy, focus on profile analysis and application of data and interdisciplinary collaboration. I have been the driving force in developing performance culture, with associated document regimes. These to support and develop strategies, procedures and policies in the clubs. In the role of head coach or assistant coach, I will be able to help drive these core areas to the next level. During the last seasons, I have trained both women and men. I am particularly proud of the entire process of developing and implementing analytics tools for my categorized systems. In fact, my ability to lead teams means that I am at the forefront of the holistic and agile change process and focusing on communication, continuing education and common guidelines creates a culturally founded ownership among the clubs administration, staff and players.

As a person, I am calm and possess both the ability to work alone with analyzes, structuring, plans, tests etc. Also to collaborate with many different people in relationships and federal contexts. In several environments, I am known to be true to my values. I have a positive relationship with good mood, am great at building relationships and watching development through inclusiveness and recognition of differences. I hope to contribute to the further development and improvement of a club team or national team. I see federations and clubs as attractive jobs and appreciate their values. From my work as an elite trainer, I know the paradigm of navigating being the most capable, but at the same time co-creating. My approach is very humbling and I have great and deep respect for the work behind it to create results. To represent a coming team I see as a positive challenge.
